

THIS IS NOT A LOCAL STRUGGLE

Cop City will change the idea of police militarization in the entire country. The proposed compound will be twice the size of the NYPD training camp, and triple the size of the LAPD one. If Cop City is built, we can be sure those facilities will expand as well. This is not a local issue affecting only some south Atlanta residents. It is a paradigmatic struggle over the nature of control and repression in our society. It is taking place within a city, within a neighborhood, within a forest. But it is also taking place within a supply chain, a financial system, an industrial arrangement comprised of entities, of facilities, of offices, of persons -- and they are everywhere.

Do not wait for an invitation. Form local resistance committees. Take action. Where they conduct business, where they make decisions, where they go on vacation, where they play golf -- confront them wherever they are organizing our doom. Every day that passes, the police are hurting and killing people; meanwhile, the planet burns.

Learn more about the bold resistance movement that aims to prevent the destruction of an urban forest at the hands of local police + film-industry executives:

- >>> defendtheatlantaforest.com
- >>> stopreevesyoung.com
- >>> scenes.noblogs.org
- >>> stopcop.city

THIS IS NOT A LOGICAL STRUGGLE

Cap City will change its focus to better utilize its unique resources in the business community. While it's true that the city has a long history of being a local leader in some areas, it is also true that the city has over time become less involved in the local economy. This is due to a series of factors, including the loss of major companies, such as General Motors, which left the city in 2009. However, the city has since rebounded, with new businesses moving in and the local economy showing signs of recovery. The city is also working to improve its infrastructure and attract new businesses.

Do not worry for us in invitation. From local businesses to international corporations, we are counting on you to do our best to help our city succeed. We believe that by working together, we can achieve great things for our city and our country. Thank you for your support and for your continued dedication to our community.

Learn more about our local businesses and how they are contributing to the growth of our community. Visit our website at www.localbusinesses.com.

Local Businesses
Local Businesses
Local Businesses
Local Businesses
Local Businesses

